Mayor Carey Cuts Retirement Income Tentative Tax Rate And Insurance Plan Another 4 Cents

Retirement Income Tentative Tax Rate And Insurance Plan Another 4 Cents

Mayor Carey today announced that he had cut the retirement income tax rate another four cents, from 3.5 to 3.1 percent. He also announced that he had cut the insurance plan another four cents, from 1.5 to 1.1 percent. The new rates will take effect on January 1, 1937.

There were between 25 and 30 people in attendance at the public hearing last evening, but only three of the audience spoke. Jay Terry, speaking for the Kingston Taxpayers' Association, said that he had been given for some time to study the proposed budget before the hearing that evening, but speaking in behalf of the association he urged that there be a further paring down of budget items. He said that with every taxpayer in a similar position, that no one could expect the city to give as good a service as it had in other years. When you get service you paid for it, but it was better to have less service the coming year than it would be for the small taxpayer to lose his home.

Mr. Terry said that everyone had been hard hit by the depression, and when people had no funds they had to go without a lot of things they wanted. The city should also go without a lot of things in these times, and the budget should be cut to the bone. In closing he urged that the budget be cut down much more than it was.

One man in the audience present said that what the people wanted was work. He said he had only had three days work from the work relief committee. If one did not have work how could they pay their taxes he asked.

Another man said he came to express appreciation for what had been done in reducing the tax rate and expressed the hope that every city department would live within its appropriation during 1937 and that it would not be necessary to authorize any more bond issues.

Mayor Carey said that he had demanded of every department that it live within its budget. He said that answering Mr. Terry he wanted Mr. Terry to go back to his association and assure them that his administration had kept within the budget during the past year and there had only been three deficits in three departments. The mayor said he had given the estimates careful consideration, and had placed in the budget sufficient money to properly carry on the city's business, but had excluded from it any items that were not necessary.

Mayor Carey said that this coming summer the number of bond issues had been cut from nine to six.

He assured his hearers that his budget positively needed no defense as it was a balanced budget. He said that after further close study that afternoon he had further pared it down a thousand dollars so that the tax rate would be $38.50 instead of $38.54 as he had previously announced.

As there was no one else who desired to be heard the mayor closed the public hearing.

ARMY CHIEFS SEE RUSSIAN MENACE TO MANCHUKUO

Tokyo, Dec. 22 (AP).—Besides internal insurrection, Japanese army leaders today envisaged two possible sources of menace to the Manchukuo government, whose protection will be the first mission of re-armed Japanese forces in Manchuria—Red Russia's huge bulk and embittered China's masses.

These only recently have resumed contact by the resumption of diplomatic relations between China and Russia.

Plans announced yesterday by Japanese war office call for an army of 50,000 picked and highly trained soldiers, equipped with the most modern weapons, as protection in Manchuria.

Momentarily the Russian menace to the Japanese sponsored Manchukuo state was considered quiescent. Japanese leaders, including Premier Hiroto, hoped for a continuation of Russo-Japanese friendship.

FIRE DESTROYS SHAKER RIDGE COUNTRY CLUB

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 22 (AP).—Fire of an undetermined origin last night completely destroyed the Shaker Ridge Country Club, north of Albany, with a loss estimated at $50,000.

Fire companies of four villages were summoned to fight the blaze, which raged for several hours, but due to the intense heat and a water shortage were unable to save the structure.

The club was organized three years ago by a group of prominent Jewish residents of Albany, Troy and Schenectady.

New York, Dec. 21.—(Special).—With the consent of Assistant United States Attorney Edgar N. Barker and the defending proprietor, Edwin Coburn, a six months' padlock was decreed for the bar in the ground floor and basement of the building located at 13 Hasbrouck avenue, Kingston, in federal court here yesterday before Judge Robert Patterson. At the time the padlock action was instituted on September 3, Frank Spafford was described as the owner of the real estate. The charges were sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a common nuisance.

A similar consent decree was also handed down yesterday in Judge Patterson's court in the padlock action concerning the first floor and basement of the Park Grove Hotel, a three story building at 425 West Main street, Catskill. The complaint, filed August 22 by Attorney Barker, charged the place with sale and possession of liquor. Joseph Kamen, mayor was said to be the proprietor of the establishment and owner of the building.

Creosolium is powerful in the treatment of all colds and coughs no matter how long standing, yet it is absolutely harmless and is pleasant and easy to take. Your own druggist guarantees Creosolium by refunding your money if you are not relieved after taking Creosolium as directed. Beware the cough or cold that hangs on. Inauguration Day
 The Continental congress, on September 17, 1787, selected the first Wednesday in the following March as the day on which proceedings under the federal Constitution should begin. On that day, which happened to be March 4, the terms of congressmen and executives began. As the terms of these officers were set for two, four and six years, it follows that they always begin and expire on March 4. The period between election and inauguration was made as great as it is because of the time required for communication and travel in those days between such distant states as New Hampshire and Georgia and the capital.

"Ownership" of the Dead
 Unless disposed of by will, ownership of a dead body is legally vested in husband or wife, with children following, and then next to kin in order of blood succession. For state purposes a coroner may claim temporary custody, but never ownership.

Soul-Value
 Be convinced of the worth of your soul. It is no breach of the law of humility to put a value upon our own souls and to think so well of ourselves as to think ourselves too good to serve sin.—Matthew Henry.

That TECHNOCRACY Question

No. 2—Machines and Power.

Editor's Note: This the second of six daily articles about Technocracy which predictions of possible economic collapse started a fervent controversy. The articles give a new insight into Technocracy and present other statistics pertaining to the displacement of men by machines, energy consumption, debts and other points involved.

By J. R. BRACKETT.
 (Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press.)

New York (AP).—Energy is Technocracy's fundamental word.

It is on the basis of the rapid increase in the use of energy that Howard Scott, Technocracy's director, has stated that drastic changes must be made in this economic system to save it from possible collapse.

Technocracy is the name of a group of engineers working at Columbia University in an "Energy Survey of North America," the purpose of which is simply, according to public statements, to make a technical analysis which, if successful, the Technocracy believe would indicate necessary corrections in the economic system.

Here is why Scott believes energy is so important:

1. For all the years of man's history up to about 1800, he used the energy resources of the earth at about the rate of 2,000 Calories per capita (a measure of energy) per day. He used little coal, no electricity, and scarcely any of the devices which need energy. Then suddenly the machines came, and today man uses about 150,000 Calories per capita per day—a gain of 75 times.

2. But in the meantime, man did not change materially his methods of directing society. What change there was probably occurred at a rate similar to the rate at which it has changed in all history. In other words energy flowed into the social mechanism at a rate entirely new in history, and society was not prepared to cope with that change.

3. The result has been a disorderly and fluctuating use of energy, resulting in fluctuation in production of goods, depressions and unemployment. The nation has attempted to progress, figuratively speaking, in an oxcart equipped with a 1,000 horsepower airplane engine. This, Technocracy believes, will become increasingly difficult.

An increasing use of energy or power to drive machinery is causing business fluctuations, says Technocracy. The chart at top illustrates the point, showing a theoretical business curve going up and down and deeper and higher, and often as energy consumption gains.

Other economists have stressed the importance of power, but some of them object to the greater stress which Technocracy has given it. They further consider that a comparison between 1800 and now is not particularly revealing, pointing out that relatively speaking the nation made "probably as astounding gains in the last century as in this one to date."

F. G. Tryon, of the Institute of Economics in Washington, has written that "the industrial production of a nation may be gauged by its use of power."

He calculated an index of energy consumption between 1859 and 1924 and found that, using 1899 as 100, consumption in U. S. increased to 210—about three times.

Going back to 1849 and using actual heat measurements, he calculated that production in 1849, not including water power for which there were no figures, was 173 trillion B. T. U., a measure of energy; that by 1899, including water power, it was 7,246 trillion B. T. U., and in 1924, it was 24,424 trillion B. T. U.

Technocracy's statistics are that total energy production in 1940 was 75 trillion B. T. U. and that it was 27,000 trillion B. T. U. in 1929—a gain of 333 times.

Technocracy said most of this increase has occurred since 1900, when, according to Technocracy, production was 2,640 trillion B. T. U. This latter figure compared to Tryon's 7,246 trillion B. T. U. for 1899. The two groups of statistics may not be exactly comparable due to differences in methods of computation. They are similar for the last decade, however.

Neither set of figures makes comparable calculations relating the growth of energy to growth in population. Since population increased, the per capita gain of energy was not as great as the total gain.

Tryon calculated that energy consumed increased at about the rate of 5 to 7 per cent per year after 1899, as compared to an increase in the physical volume of production of 4 per cent per year. Comparing 1899 to 1916, Tryon found that population gained a total of 36 per cent; physical volume of agriculture, manufacturing, and mining production, and railroad transportation increased a total of 80 per cent, and energy production 150 per cent.

As to what machines used this energy, Carrol Roop Daugherty, in a U. S. Geological Survey Bulletin, has calculated that, using 1899 as 100, capacity to use power increased from 16 to 1099 if automobiles are included. If autos are not included, the change was from 16 to 393.

This indicates that much more than half of the consumption of energy was accounted for by the automobiles in using oil and gas, and that by excluding autos from the general computations of B. T. U. the gains would not seem so important as an influence on production.

FASHION TAKES UP THE COLLEGE GIRL

Cardway Favored Fabric Because of Durability.

Cardway, especially waterproofed, is a grand uniform for workers in the educational mill. It's warm enough and durable enough for diversified work. It comes in a wide range of beautiful colors. Chanel has made cardway suits and topsuits, tailored in the carelessly informal, country sort of way which makes them just right for the young girl. A feature of many of her suits is her new belt. This is leather, studded with bright "jewels" (varicolored bits of glass and metal), like a cowpuncher's belt. They're very jaunty. Worth likes a waterproof cotton velvet for the young collegian in a mannish, raglan type, with a turnover collar and rounded revers. The shirt is straight with an inverted plait in the side to allow for the last minute dash to class, and rather long. It has a built-up belt and the blouse is worn tucked into it. This is loosely tailored, tobacco brown, with a round neck buttoning up high. The scarf is brown, too, worn pulled through a ring of the velvet.

SHIRT-WAIST FROCK

By CHERRY NICHOLAS

Throughout present styling the influence of shirt-waist modes is easily traceable. This attractive sports dress demonstrates how cleverly the idea is being developed this season. This youthful looking frock is ideal for college or office wear. It is of rust-colored crepe. Bright nickel buttons and buckle answer the call for metal trimmings.

STYLE NOTES

Raglan fur coats are newest. Crinkle-surfaced weaves are the most popular. Fur trimmings are worked in diagonal lines. Satin frocks with velvet wraps are good style. Perforated footwear is fore-spoken for spring. Neat light wool frocks are well fastened with buttons. Two-piece waist-and-skirt dresses register in the evening mode. Fur coats with gay wool frocks are correct for immediate wear.

Dress Does Multiple Duty

With Detachable Sleeves

The vogue of sleeves of a different color from that of the gown has led to a very practical fashion in that detachable sleeves are made to fasten into the armholes of sleeveless formal, thus enabling one dress to do multiple duty. For the black velvet gown sleeves are suggested in any of the new hyacinth shades or abalone which is a frequent choice of the smart Parisienne. Royal blue with black or brown is also good style. The tremendous importance of color contrast is also emphasized in such unique combinations as copper with violet, apricot with hyacinth, ivory white with deep violet, which but suggest the myriads of color experiments which are going on in the field of costume design at present.

New Pinafore Dress Gives You Two Frocks in One

The new pinafore dress gives you two frocks in one. There's a whole dress and over it goes a pinafore or apron-like section much like the old-fashioned pinafore which little girls used to wear to protect their dresses. It covers the dress in front, has a tie-around waistline and a bib section that slips over the head or straps over the shoulders.

Be Original

Surprising how girls are creating their own coiffure designs, giving them the personal note. A curl here, a dip there, perhaps a bias parting. Fun seeing what one can do with the old mop to make it show itself to best advantage.

Hippo Skin Mail Bags

Attaching the mail bags on a river near Sierra, northern Rhodesia, a hippopotamus sank the craft, causing the loss of two mail bags. The huge beast bit a large piece out of the vessel. The terrified natives fled into the water and swam ashore.

CARRAGE PAMA BOTH MESSAGE AND BLACK EYE TO KINGSTON
144 Main St. Kingston.
Editor of Freeman
Dear Sir:—
A recent visitor at my home remarked about the beauty of Kingston at Christmas time, but soon changed his mind when he saw carriage pals standing from Tuesday until Friday on our streets.
Can nothing be done about this menace to public health? Thinking for a space in your paper.
Very truly,
MILDRED H. VAN KLEECK.

BINNENWATER.
Binnenwater, Dec. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Elias Gaster of Kingston called on friends Friday evening.
The Christmas entertainment held at the school house Friday evening was a great success, with much credit to the teachers and pupils.
Miss Anna Rehn of Kingston is spending the Christmas holidays with her aunt, Mrs. L. Keator.
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Alfridge were callers in Kingston recently.
Arthur Freer spent the holidays with friends in New York.
Micrometer With a Dial
An improvement in the design of the micrometer has a dial attachment about the size of a watch by which fine measurements may be read at a glance. The jaws are held together by a spring, but when pressed together, with the article to be measured between them, the pointer of the dial shows the measurement very accurately at a glance.

DAIRY FACTS

ONLY HIGH GRADE MILK WORTH WHILE

Poor Quality Production to Be Avoided.

By DR. M. W. TALE, Bacteriologist, New York State Experiment Station.
Meeting the bacterial count requirements for premiums on grade A milk is proving profitable to many New York state dairymen in these days of low milk prices. A first premium is paid on milk with 10,000 or less bacteria per cc and a second premium on milk with a 10,000 to 25,000 count. In one large grade A plant in this state, last June, 50 per cent of the producers received the first premium, 20 per cent the second, and 20 per cent no premium. This last group lost about $1,000 in premium money for that month alone.
Accurate information on the common sources of bacteria and dirt in milk is essential for the dairyman who is trying to produce high grade milk. The results of studies show that the average healthy udder produces milk with a bacterial count less than 1,500 per cc, while infected udders may contain hundreds of thousands of bacteria per cc. The number of bacteria added to milk from the dirt that appears as visible sediment under clean conditions is less than 100 per cc, but under dirty conditions it may reach 15,000 to 20,000 per cc. Dust in the barn adds less than 10 bacteria per cc under average conditions, but it shows as sediment and should be avoided.

Mosque of Omar
Visitors to Jerusalem never fail to make the Dome of the Rock or the mosque of Omar one of the first things to see. It is sometimes considered to be the finest building in Asia, if not in the world. It is octagonal in form, each side being 600 feet wide and composed of richly colored marble and tile, with a dome of beautiful proportions. In part it is the work of the Moslems before the Crusaders, but the Crusaders enlarged it, and Sultan the Magnificent completed it in 1567. When you have seen its interior, says a confirmed globetrotter, the mosque, the rich rugs given by a past sultan, the sixteenth century stained glass windows and all the architectural effects and groupings, you realize why it is so praised. It is the chief landmark of the city.

Governmental Departments
Four of the governmental departments are older than the government under the Constitution. These are Departments of Foreign Affairs, Treasury, War and Post office. They were re-established by the first congress under the Constitution, changing the Department of Foreign Affairs to Department of State. The office of attorney general was also established in 1789 and 1870 the name was changed to Department of Justice. The Department of the Navy was established in 1789; Department of the Interior, 1849; Department of Agriculture, 1889; Department of Commerce (and Labor), 1906; Department of Labor, 1913.

Atom's Subdivision
The neutron is a subdivision of the atom whose existence was announced recently by Dr. James Chadwick of Cambridge, England. It represents the first step in the evolution of matter from the elementary electricity. The atom is regarded as made up of electrons and protons, held together by attraction between negative and positive electrical charges. The neutron is a combination of a single electron and a single proton, their electrical charges neutralized by their union. The neutron itself carries no electrical charge.

Drawing Interest
A smart young man entered a crowded tramcar, and, sitting down, became aware of a general focusing of eyes toward a smartly-dressed girl's shoe. He saw a $1 note protruding from her shoe. Calling her attention to the fact, he said, "Do you not think, miss, that that $1 note would be better in a bank, creating a little interest?" Smiling, she replied, "Do you not think, sir, that it is creating quite a great deal of interest where it is?"—Border Cities Star.

Pea Vine Silage Does Not Affect Milk Flavor

On the basis of feed required for milk production, using a well balanced concentrate ration, pea vine silage is worth 91 per cent as much as corn silage, and with corn silage worth $3.50 a ton, pea vine silage is worth $3.20 a ton. This is the conclusion reached at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture following feeding trials with two groups of five dairy cows each, carried for 126 days, using alfalfa hay in both cases.
No flavor was imparted to the milk by pea vine silage, but when it is fed it is not a good idea to store it in the stable. Average daily milk flow was 23 pounds per cow on corn silage and slightly over 21 pounds on pea vine silage.—Wisconsin Agriculturist.

Warm Water for Cows

Members of the Cedar Falls (Iowa) Herd Improvement association made certain that their cows were getting water of modified temperature in order to maintain a maximum milk flow at the lowest possible cost. Water freezes at a temperature of only 32 degrees, but even in comparatively mild winter weather, this is too cold for the cows to drink four pounds of water for each pound of milk they are capable of producing, these dairymen have found.
The cow tester reports that of the twenty-six members, sixteen had tank heaters in operation during this month, and seven barns were equipped with drinking cups. Two members had both tank heaters and drinking cups, while only three members were not equipped with either one of these methods for providing water of modified temperature. The average production of the 448 cows during the month, with 78 dry, was 733 pounds of milk and 277 pounds of fat.—Wallaces' Farmer.

Fewer, Better Cows Pay

One herd of eleven cows in the Garnaville (Iowa) Cow-Testing association produced an average of 331 pounds of butterfat per cow last year. The income above feed cost was $257.92. Another herd of 20 cows produced an average of 223.9 pounds of butterfat, but the income above feed cost was only $257.74. The larger herd consumed 10 tons more hay, 20 tons more silage and 10 acres more pasture, required about twice as much labor as the small herd, and put 1,017.5 pounds more butterfat on the market, yet returned 13 cents less for the year.—Wallaces' Farmer.

Cows Carried at a Loss

Dairy herd improvement association records show that cows producing 100 pounds of butterfat a year brought in an income over cost of feed of exactly $11 per cow. These cows were carried at a loss, because $11 was not enough to pay for labor and overhead. Cows that produced 400 pounds of butterfat a year returned an income over cost of feed of $136 per cow.

Keep Record of Sires

The only way to prove a sire is through a system of continuous record keeping on the entire herd, and retain him until his transmitting ability is known. Many breeders and institutions are now following such a system and if this plan is generally adopted there will soon be made available a large number of proved sires and a better basis for improvement in the production of our dairy cattle will be established, says a writer in Hoard's Dairyman.

Altitude and the Voice

It is a common lecture experiment in courses in physics to fill the lungs with hydrogen and speak a word or two. The quality of the voice is much altered and its loudness diminished, because of the low density of the hydrogen. There should be a similar effect in rarefied air.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Mail 'em Early.
New York—For two nights after Christmas theatre goes for a check-out of a huge electric sign that said on Broadway's great white way "Mail 'em Christmas cards and packages early for delivery before Christmas." The maintenance men who turned on the lights explained the reason for the sign. They said they bore him. Anybody who said the sign would remind him to buy them mail for early next year.

No Fun Anymore.
Philadelphia—Hilltop men no longer relieve the monotony of Mrs. Ida Hanks' life as an elevated station cashier. The first time it happened she was thrilled and frightened but in the last four months she has been robbed four times and the thing is beginning to pall. The robbers took $100 from her last night.

Books as Life Savers.
Chicago—Books, in the opinion of Charles H. Compton, of St. Louis, are keeping lots of people alive. He told the American Library Association that thousands of would-be suicides are living today because they turned bookworms. The influence of the public libraries, he said, were doing much to maintain the morale of persons in distress. Compton is assistant librarian of the St. Louis Public Library.

Acrobatics Save Life.
Pittsburgh—Trapped in his room in a hotel fire, Clayton Cornell, 26, climbed out on a window sill. As flames seared the room he lowered himself from the sill, hanging by his finger tips. A man on the floor below opened his window and Cornell swung himself through it. Had he slipped he would have plunged 20 feet to the pavement.

Patience, Gentlemen.
Milan, Italy—Natale Tombini's philosophy of patience bore fruit. Tombini, a crippled vendor of post cards and pencils, drove into town with his wife and four children. His faithful old horse, "Icaro," plunged his front legs into a sewer and had to be killed. Whereupon the Bombinis, stranded in the street, stayed just where they were, despite official hints to move on. "Pazienza, Signori," Tombini said with a genial smile. "With-out a horse how can I leave?" Finally the city fathers dug down into the official purse, and the Bombinis left behind a strong new horse.

A Dozen Twins.
Muncie, Ind.—Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Sulphur Springs report the birth of twin girls—the sixth set of twins in the family in three generations. The great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Muzzy, still alive and hale at 85, was the mother of the first set. Since then it rather ran in the family.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Looking Around the Corner for Prospects in Style

New York—Illustrated is one of the new French dresses that have arrived to give us an inkling of what we may expect for early spring. It is in a two-piece effect and has one of those new skirts that have the fulness at the front, the back being flat.

There seems every reason to believe that skirts are going to be straighter at the hem. They will have some fulness front or back. The evening dress is the exception to this rule. It still draws from below the knee.

There is also another gratifying report going the rounds, and that is that simplified fashions in general—not merely as applied to silhouette—are being prepared. Take stockings as an instance. Instead of having a bewildering number of shades, there will be fewer, and those softer and more neutral, making them eligible to be worn with black or any number of colors.

It is extremely difficult to get hosiery dealers to commit themselves on the subject of gray stockings. It seems reasonable to suppose that if gray lines up to expectations and becomes the key color for spring, stockings will take on gray rather than beige tones. That is where hosiery that retains a strict neutrality comes in.

In buying shoes, unless you are addicted to the opera pump, which we have always with us, better remember that the higher cuts are stepping out—in oxfords, ghillies and shoes that approach the ankle. There are women who trot around in black patent leather oxfords for every purpose except sports and evening wear. This does, of course, simplify the shoe problem.

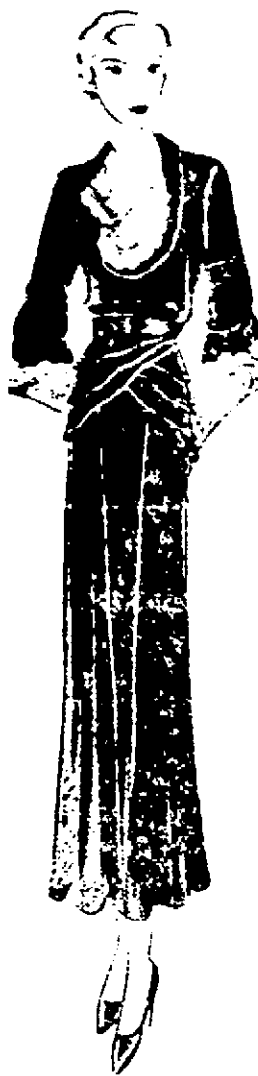

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Light colors are suggested for afternoon wear this winter.

For afternoon dresses, light colors have a formal air that women like; they have a feminine and flattering quality that women approve in frocks for luncheon, bridge and tea, and they may be worn also for informal dinner at a restaurant.

One very youthful model has crisp pleated frills on the sleeves and bodice, and an interesting costume has printed linen sleeves and cape lining, the linen in black and white.

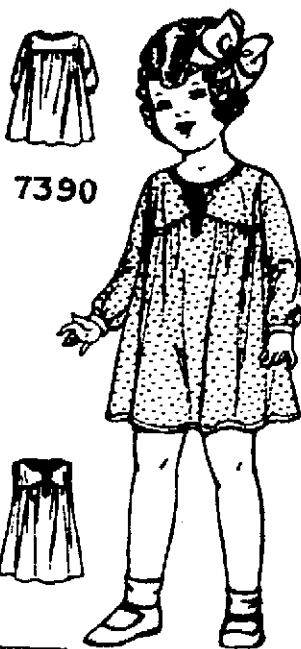

PRETTY AND PRACTICAL

Copyright, 1932, by Patchell.

Above, a dress fashioned of heavy black marocain with white organdy collar and cuffs, corded and embroidered. The black suede belt is fastened with a buckle of metal and brilliants. This is one of the few dresses shown at the midseason which are two-piece in suggestion, and the skirt is one of many that are flat at the back, with fulness massed at the front only.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Simple Frock for a Little Girl

7390. This neat little model is nice for dimity, dotted Swiss, and for cotton prints. It may be developed with or without the sleeves. Crepe de chine is also suggested for this dainty frock. In white or in the soft shades of pink, blue, orchid or green, it may be finished with binding in a contrasting color.

Designed in 5 sizes: 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 years. Size 2 will require 1 1/2 yard of 32 inch material if made with sleeves. Without sleeves size 2 will require 1 1/2 yard. To finish with bias binding or with piping as pictured in the large view will require 2 1/2 yards 1 1/2 inch wide.

Littleton Ghost Story
Ghost-story lovers may be interested by an incident of which the details are claimed to be perfectly authentic. On the night of November 25, 1779 the second Lord Lyttleton dreamed that a bird flew into his room, changed to a woman, and bade him prepare for death within three days.

He told the dream to his family at breakfast next morning, but made light of it, being to all appearances in excellent health.

He joked about it again just before going to bed, a few minutes before midnight on the third day.

While he was undressing he suddenly fell dead.—London Times.

Toys Children Favor

A comprehensive survey leads to the conclusion that building blocks are the favorite toy for children up to the age of seven. Drawing and painting materials rank high. With little girls dolls and housekeeping equipment are favorites. Sand and clay for modeling retain the interest of most children. Mechanical toys, on the other hand, are soon discarded. Adults usually enjoy the mechanical toys more than the children for whom they are purchased.

Camp Preemaker Reunion at Y. M. C. A.

A merry good time was had Wednesday evening in the Y. M. C. A. by the boys and men who attended the annual Camp Preemaker banquet and reunion. There were 12 present, most of whom were campers. By far the largest number were from the city but there were a few present from New Paltz, Highland, Ulster and New York city.

C. A. Baltz, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee at the Y. M. C. A. called the meeting to order at 6:30 and called upon the Rev. R. L. Matternstock of New Paltz, father of one of the campers, for the invocation. A splendid chicken dinner served by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., was attended by the campers with all the vim of a real camper's appetite.

Following the meal, Chairman Baltz made some brief remarks and then turned the meeting over to N. H. Fuller, the camp director. Some of the old camp songs were then sung by the group and a few pages read from the log of last summer's camp. So vividly did they recall the good old days that a number remarked that they would count the months until next summer's camp.

A number of the camp leaders were present and it was a pleasure for the campers to hear the brief addresses that each made when introduced again by the camp director. Leaders present were: Coach G. Warren Kias, Chester Baltz, Jr., Paul Haas, Francis Phillips and Wallace Boley. Letters were read from H. B. Stein and Bowden Palmer, senior leaders, who could not be present.

But the leaders were not the only ones who had a chance to speak. Mr. Fuller called upon a camper from each place represented who, much to the delight of the whole group, brought greetings from his delegation. Those responding were: from Kingston, Herbert Greenwald; from New Paltz, Robert Matternstock; from Highland, John Salvatore and Robert Coutant; from Ulster, Billy Walker; and from New York, Alfred Gummer. One of the unexpected features was a mistake in the program. A quantity of a considerable quantity left a roll call was then made up of the names and it was found that three boys had been omitted. Cabin number 8, with seven boys present took second place.

Preceding the showing of the camp movies, which closed the formal part of the meeting, Francis Phillips and Paul Haas entertained the group, a la carte style, with a couple of charming and comical stunts. A stunt played by some of the boys had to be modified because of the inability of some of the members to be present at the last minute.

The movies were the big hit of the evening and it was that sport for the campers to see themselves in the autumn, playing baseball, boxing, swimming, playing basketball, and working at their craft projects.

The fellowship and reminiscence also played a big part in the evening's program. Many of the group remaining for over an hour after the meeting had adjourned. Small groups could be seen here and there, discussing the exciting time in general, a cabin or talking about the thrilling adventure they had on such a hike, and making plans to be back in camp again next year.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT AT ST. REMY ENJOYED
St. Remy, Dec. 29.—The Men's Community Club of St. Remy, in conjunction with the Dutch Reformed Church, the Sunday school and the public school held a Christmas tree and entertainment on Friday night, December 23. The church was very attractively decorated in red and green, with handsome tall tree and a chime setting.

The tree was beautifully decorated with an illuminated star at the top and colored lights throughout the tree. The chimney was a very attractive work of art done by the local artist, Harry Havlin, to whom many thanks are due. The entertainment was very appropriately opened by prayer, reading of the scripture and singing.

of the doxology, all of which were very ably handled by Mrs. C. E. Elsworth. Music was rendered by Mrs. Mary Elsworth.

Singing and recitations were rendered by the pupils of the public school, which were enjoyed by all. Santa, ably portrayed by Jack Kemmer, entered by way of the chimney and was greeted with loud cheers from the boys and in a very business-like way proceeded to make the children happy by presenting them with presents from the Sunday school and the members of the public school. Miss Henderson, Mrs. Elsworth and other ladies were furnished by the men of the club.

The ladies extended to the men of the Community Club, the women of the church and the teacher, Miss Henderson, for the time and labor that it took to make the entertainment so successful.

The ladies' auxiliary of the St. Remy Reformed Church and the first ladies also presented the pastor, who is the champion of the fire eaters, a very handsome hour lamp which he also received with much surprise and profuse thanks.

Many thanks were also extended to the committee of arrangements who were: P. Fisher, J. Barnett, D. Koch, W. Henderson, H. B. Swart, assisted by W. Henderson, S. Blaustein, K. Krom, H. Havlin, A. Shultz, H. Krom and P. Fisher, Jr.

The Christmas tree was a native hemlock furnished by a committee of the Community Club, who were: Charles Stetson, A. Barnett, D. Koch, H. Fisher and Charles Barnett. The Community tree, which is furnished and decorated each year by the local fire department is very attractively lighted by many colored lights and is the cause of much worthy praise.

Envy

Envy shoots at others, and wounds herself. Envy and covetousness are never satisfied. The greatest mischief you can do the envious, is to do well. An envious man waxes lean with the fatness of his neighbor. Envy never yet enriched any man. Envy is the worst disease. Envy never has a holiday. The envious die but envy never.

Man's Small Wants

"Man wants but little here below." In a very real sense this declaration of the poet is true. Every literary worker and every scholar tries to have a library close at hand. He gathers many books, which seem to him to be virtually indispensable to the prosecution of his professional work. And yet the majority of such students consists of a few books. When they come to sift our wants, we find that they center on very few things. Our discontent and dissatisfaction come largely from our imagination. We imagine that we have many obstacles and difficulties which have no existence in reality. Could we realize how little we absolutely need, and do, in fact, voluntarily get along with, we should save ourselves a vast amount of harmful worry.—Exchange.

Wrong Ideas

A lot of our common ideas are wrong. It is quite true that iron is really white, and only turns black on exposure to the air.

In the same way, gold doesn't glitter till it's polished; diamonds have no sparkle until they have been cut; and opals when first found in their natural clay setting are so soft that they can be picked with the fingernail.

But one of the commonest fallacies of this sort is to describe the pig as a dirty animal. In their natural mode of life pigs are very clean, finding food by rummaging in woodland. But their feet are so formed for digging that when they are kept in a confined space they cut up the earth and churn it into mud.—Exchange.

Beautiful Cathedral City

There are few places in the whole of the British Isles more fascinating than Wells, the city of many streams, not far from the other cathedral towns of Bath and Salisbury. Like Burgos in Belgium, a moat still surrounds the bishop's palace, and nearly everything which meets the eye savors of an order of things which vanished in England. Visitors are always specially interested in the swans which swim in the moat, for they have learned to ring the porter's bell when they want to be fed. The best view of the famous cathedral here can be obtained from Tor hill, from which point the visitors will learn why Wells has been called "a precious jewel set in an emerald landscape."

Each Has a Name

"I have been told there are quite a lot of different names for groups of animals. Has such of birds, herd of cows, etc." writes a correspondent. "Can you give me a list of these?" Well, here are some to go on with: Swarm of bees, nest of rabbits, litter of whelps, down of hare, troop of monkeys, gaggle of geese, school of porpoises, wrig of snipe, pack of pheasants, team of oxen, covey of partridges, berry of quails, pack of asses.—But enough! I fear other readers will be getting tired.—London Answers.

A DAZZLING
ACE, TOOLonnie Warneke Is Double Champion

Chicago Cubs Pitcher Allowed but
2.37 Earned Runs Per Nine-Inning
Game and Won 22 Games in 1932.

New York, Dec. 29 (AP)—Lonnie Warneke has stepped out to break what was becoming a monopoly of the veteran pitchers of the National League.

Warneke, pitching for the Chicago Cubs his first full season in big league baseball, made himself a double champion and gathered in a few other odds and ends in the victory line during the 1932 season, the complete hurling records, released today, reveal. He outbroke the oldsters in effectiveness, allowing only 2.37 earned runs per nine-inning game, won 22 games, more than any other pitcher in the league, and, having only six defeats charged against him, gained the highest percentage, .784. He also tied for the shutout lead with four and was one of three pitchers to hurl more than 20 complete games.

In past seasons the veterans have finished at the top of the "earned run average" column with southpaw Bill Walker of New York and right handed Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn dividing the honors for the past four years. Both of these veterans slumped badly last season, allowing more than four runs per game and failing to pitch the ten complete games required for a place in the top division of "hard working" pitchers. They both were placed on the trading block, Walker going to St. Louis.

Paul Fights LaBarba Tonight
Chicago, Dec. 29 (AP)—Tommy Paul is to find out just how good he is tonight. The chicken raiser from Buffalo, N. Y., recognized as the world's featherweight champion by the National Boxing Association, will have his acid test in trading punches with the capable Fidel LaBarba of Los Angeles in a 10-round skirmish at the Chicago Stadium.

BILLIARDS

One of the most decisive defeats in the Kaslich tournament was suffered by Richard Palen Wednesday night when he was beaten by John Mayone by a 100 to 35 score. Mayone took an early lead and was never headed. Palen played very carefully and the game was never close enough to be interesting. Tonight's match will bring together Kid Taylor and Bob East.

WARNER WOULD CHANGE
GRID SCORING SYSTEM

New York, Dec. 29 (AP)—Glen Scobey (Pop) Warner was not able to complete his migration back to the east in time to augment the football coaches' discussion of the new rules but from Palo Alto the voice of the old master could be heard today in advocacy of one of his pet proposals—a change in the gridiron scoring system to give one point for each first down, in addition to the present method of scoring. He also urges a change in the new "dead-ball" rule.

Warner's views were contained in a letter to Gilmour Dobie of Cornell, who presented the coaches' report on rules at the convention just closed and urged more simplification and more safeguards in the rules, rather than any other changes in the code which he found satisfactory for 1932. "The public likes a free scoring game," wrote Warner, who soon will transfer his work-bench from Stanford to Temple. "Baseball men recognized this when they began to use a livelier ball. The change (I suggest for football) would make the games less common and would make the best team more likely to win. It would provide many more thrills—look at the cheers that go up now when the stakes are moved forward."

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

It seems to worry a few of my good friends, like Lou McKenna of the St. Paul Dispatch, not to find a full-fledged, officially designated "fullback" in the 1932 Associated Press All-America football selections.

"If the Associated Press wants to designate all the players in its mythical backfield as backs why not call those in the line just linemen?" asks Lou. "There would be just as much logic to such a designation. A tackle can play the guard position as well as a guard."

The answer to this, of course, is quite simple. The linemen retain their designations by popular consent and for purposes of general or specific operations, whether the forwards occupy a balanced or unbalanced formation. Still, it is true that ends like Sparling, Petoskey or Kosky may be called on to carry the ball from scrimmage, also that some guards may be asked to run with the pigskin as well as to lead interference.

At the same time old backfield designations, as I wrote to Franklin Rogers of the Mankato (Minn.) Free Press, have fast been losing their identity under the changing styles of football play. Most coaches now number their backs and assign accordingly. A natural fullback of the old school, like Bart Viviano of Cornell, actually occupies the equivalent of a halfback position now. Just to make it more complicated Viviano also called signals for Cornell, but the team had a quarterback passer and safety man. This is typical.

Couldn't Be Bothered

The opinions of sports editors and writers clearly showed a fine disregard in this year's All-America roundup for the old-style fullback, however much his plunging and rugged defensive work or its equivalent may have remained a prime essential. They preferred, apparently, to have Warren Heller or Don Zimmerman do this work for the all-star backfield, and let the rest of the boys fight it out on paper.

Of course I realize it is tough to convince anyone in proximity to Minnesota that it is not absolutely essential to have a rugged line-splitting fullback on any football team, mythical or otherwise. In a spot where they turn 'em out like Bronko Nagurski (a tackle, if you prefer), Herb Joesting and Jack Manders, this feeling is only natural.

Coaches Cooperate

Major league magnates and others interested in forestalling any decline in baseball will be encouraged by the plan of leading college coaches in Michigan to aid high school or junior baseball activity during 1933.

The coaches, including Ray Fisher of Michigan, John Kobs of Michigan State, Juddy Hyames of Western State Teachers and Harry Ockerman of Michigan Normal, are willing to go so far as to devote their time during the summer to advancing the sport, visiting various cities to talk baseball with the kids and cooperating with American Legion or municipal athletic organizations.

They feel, as do big league men, that the sport has just as big a hold as ever on the nation's youth, but that the prime need now is for organized stimulation of this natural interest.

Earth's Age and Wisdom

The question is not so much "How old is the earth?" as "Why doesn't it stay that way?"

100 COUPLES ATTENDED

K. OF C. DANCE WEDNESDAY

Amid a setting of unusual gaiety and holiday splendor, the subscription dancing party sponsored by Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus, occurred Wednesday evening in the assembly hall of the K. of C. Home, about 100 couples attending. A most striking and beautiful ballroom greeted the guests, with its huge wreaths of red and white poinsettias and evergreen trees, while the lights were softly shaded in red and white. The stage, from where John Ernie's orchestra furnished delightful dance music, was converted into a bower of beauty, its main attraction being a silver white tree filled with red poinsettia blossoms. The decorative scheme was the creative work of Mrs. James H. Hickey and formed a picturesque background for the guests attending. The floor was completely filled with happy dancers, among them many of the college girls and boys, and the gay mingling of the older and younger sets was a very happy event of the holiday season.

CAPON PRODUCTION INCREASES PROFITS

An Added Amount of Flesh Makes Market Demand.

The capon retains the tender, juicy and sweet quality of flesh that was possessed in its younger life and finds a ready market when there is a scarcity of other market fowls.

The production of capons will add profits to any poultryman's annual income. The increased amount of flesh on the body, especially the breast, and the improved quality of the meat gives to the capon its high value and market demand. The percentage of edible meat on the capon will average 52 per cent as compared with about 50 per cent for the cockerels and 53 per cent for the fattened fowl. Properly fed, the capon uses a good part of the ration to make body growth and a large, strong frame is needed to support the increased amount of flesh which the bird puts on. The capon also has the ranging ability of the turkey.

The best method in producing capons is to select cockerels weighing about 1½ pounds at eight weeks of age. These are caponized in the late spring and early summer when broiler prices are low. The birds are then fed so as to develop body growth and are fattened to be sold when about ten months of age. When choosing cockerels for caponizing, get only those which show good vigor and vitality and have a tendency to produce large bones. An individual of this type will recover from the operation very quickly and with the least halting in growth.

The grain produced on the farm and free range supplemented with some animal protein and a mineral mixture may be used as feed. Rye, oats, rape, soybeans, peas, lespedeza, alfalfa and clover will furnish range pickings through the entire period of growth.

Trapnesting Turkeys Is

Found to Be Good Plan

There is nothing new about trapnesting turkeys, but there is a great deal of profit to be derived from heavy laying hens capable of producing highly fertile eggs of known hatchability. Pedigreed breeders in a turkey flock are as important as pedigree chickens, and the turkey specialist recognizes this to the same degree as does the hen egg producer.

Turkey hens, when left to their own resources, will lay enough eggs to make a setting, go broody and proceed to reproduce their kind; they may possess ability to lay and will transmit this ability through their sons to their granddaughters.

Trapnesting determines which turkey hens possess ability to lay. When this ability is found, the possessors of it should be mated to a male similarly endowed for transmission purposes. This simple genetic practice will work wonders in improving any flock, but the wise turkey farmer will select breeders of large size and good health.

Profitable Broilers

If broilers and pullets are to be raised at a cost that will yield a profit, important factors will have to be carefully weighed by the producer. These are, the quality and efficiency of the brooding equipment, the feed used, and the sanitation. Quality of chicks comes first because nothing gives a poorer start toward low production costs than cheap chicks from untested stock. Brooding equipment is next in line and quality and efficiency rather than low price should govern one's choice.

Balanced Ration Necessary

It is getting to be more and more accepted that poultrymen have wasted lots of time arguing about methods of feeding instead of making sure that the rations were complete. Modern chick rearing methods practically demand a balanced ration due to the fact that chicks are raised earlier in the season and raised in large groups so they find but little free feed.

Poultry Hints

It is not always the lack of grit and oryster shell that causes hens to lay soft-shelled eggs, for in many cases it is due to the bird being abnormally fat.

Disinfected drinking vessels are an aid to flock health. A mild sort of material that will not cut down the rate of water drinking is potassium permanganate. It need not be used in the milk vessel.

Poultry can withstand colder temperatures than animals, but cannot tolerate drafts.

Eggs from hens fed cod-liver oil contain much of vitamin D, which nutrition experts say is essential for the proper growth and maintenance of teeth and bone.

Montana poultry farm demonstrators have an average annual egg production per hen about double that of the average for the state. The secret is record keeping.

Children's Christmas Festival at St. John's

On Wednesday evening, Holy Innocents' Night, the children of St. John's Church School had their own Christmas service and entertainment in the parish house following the short service in the church, during which there was a brief address to the boys and girls by Rector Kemper.

When the members of the school and their parents and friends and people of the church were seated in the parish house, Walter Eiston, the loved superintendent of the school, welcomed the large gathering and then told the older folks a bit about the school while final groupings of the children for the program were made. Mr. Eiston stated that there are now 165 members of the church school, which is one of the very most important of all of the church activities. He thanked all those who in any way helped to make the school the success it has grown to be, and also those, especially Mrs. Mackey, Mrs. Raymond Craft and Mrs. A. Frome, for training the littlest children, and Mrs. Olinas, Miss Muriel Olinas and Richard Cole for the trio music as well as the children who were to give the program.

When the curtains parted, a prettily decorated stage, with flags and a beautiful lighted Christmas tree also discovered Santa Claus seated in a comfortable chair fast asleep. He seemed to have found his task unusually difficult this year. So they did not disturb him as they began the program which included the following numbers:

Selection by String Trio.
Song, "Away in a Manger", Kindergarten and First Grade children.
Recitation by George Squires.
Recitation, "The Christmas Candle", Mary Squires, Genevieve Curtis, Irene Robinson.
Recitation, "Christmas Cheer", Audrey Relyea.

Recitation, "The Christmas Tree", by James Gemmell, Ann MacConnell, Donald Duchene, Jennie Denike.

Song, "The First Christmas", by Patricia Craft.

Recitation, "Christmas", by Vera Mackey.

Recitation, "A Christmas Present", by Gertrude Richter and Gordon Constable.

Recitation, "The Christmas Star", Patricia Wright, Doris Fromehead, Dorothy Fromehead, Roberta Tranter.

Recitation, "A Wish", John MacConnell.

Recitation by Sally Gemmell.

Recitation, "Billy's Christmas Present", Robert Langling.

Recitation by Jesse Kaprielian.

Selection by Rhythm Band.

"Christmas Bells", played by Joan Craig, Hugh Kexler, John MacConnell, Robert Craft with Phyllis Craft and Eugene MacConnell at the piano, all pupils of Miss Jennie Heibrandt.

Playlet, "The Christmas Sprite", by the girls of Mrs. Mackey's class, Blanche Burt, Thelma Tranker, Mary Tase, Edna Beatty, Dorothy Battenfield, Dorothy Hughes, Jean Wright, Phyllis Craft and Ruth Robinson.

Christmas in All Lands, given with flags of all lands, by a large group of boys and girls.

Song, "Outside the Inn", Primary Department.

Selection by the Trio.

Somewhere between the numbers on the well-known program when the curtains were drawn, Santa Claus must have awakened and slipped off the stage, for when they were ready to distribute the gifts he was nowhere in sight. However he (Arthur Lacy) was soon found and in he came to have a merry time with the children and to help give out the Christmas gifts, the last thing on an evening's happy Christmas program.

Somewhere between the numbers on the well-known program when the curtains were drawn, Santa Claus must have awakened and slipped off the stage, for when they were ready to distribute the gifts he was nowhere in sight. However he (Arthur Lacy) was soon found and in he came to have a merry time with the children and to help give out the Christmas gifts, the last thing on an evening's happy Christmas program.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

STICKYTOES TELLS JOHNNY CHUCK A SECRET

WHILE Johnny Chuck was stuffing himself in order to make more for winter, he did a lot of thinking. You know one can think and eat at the same time very nicely. What was Johnny Chuck thinking about? He was thinking about the coming winter and the curious ways in which his friends and neighbors would spend it. When other people do things in a different way from the way we do them we are very apt to think that their ways are curious, quite forgetting that to them our way may seem just as curious.

To Johnny Chuck there is only one sensible way of spending the long months when rough Brother North Wind and Jack Frost roar and howl and pinch and squeeze, and that is to curl up comfortably away down where rough Brother North Wind and Jack

"I think," said he, "that I have got quite as much sense as they have."

Frost cannot reach him and there sleep until they have gone back to the far Northland. Johnny Chuck always thought of it as the only sensible thing to do. He sometimes quite forgot that it was the only thing he could do and so took credit for sense and wisdom which really didn't belong to him. You see, Johnny has no choice in the matter. He has to sleep that way because in the winter there is nothing he can eat.

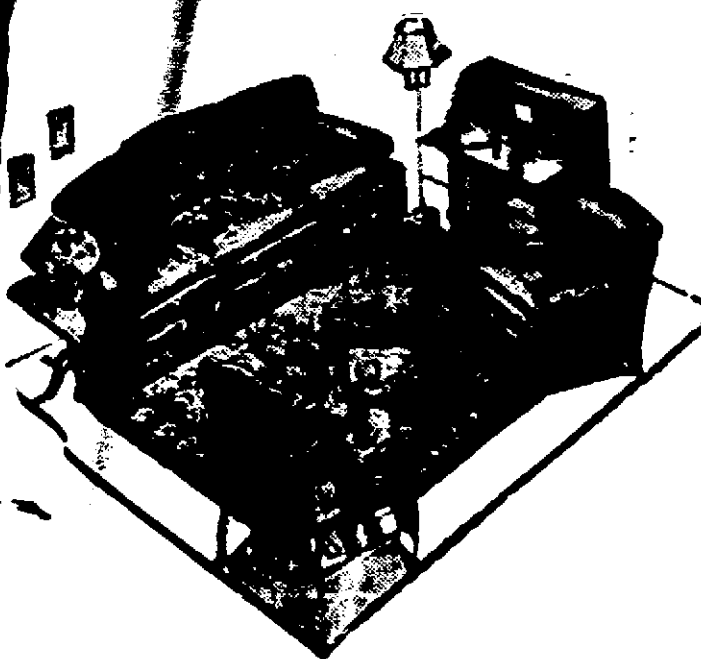

But this is not so with many of his neighbors. Some of them eat things which can be kept for a long time without spoiling, like nuts and seeds, and those who eat these things pack them away into storehouses or hide them where they can find them. Then in the winter they sleep in bad weather and come out to play a little and to get food from their hiding places in pleasant weather. Happy Jack Squirrel and Chatter the Red Squirrel do this. Striped Chipmunk pops up for a breath of fresh air on warm,

The Eternal Process

Whether the longer life that is won by new knowledge of diet is pure gain or not remains to be seen. Maybe the surplus is merely to be devoted to study of diet with the thought of prolonging life, and so on.—New York Sun.
